STATEMENT MADE BY MR. LU SU TO THE
PROCURATORATE OF THE DISTRICT COURT OF NANKING

Upon entry of Nanking, Chinese civilians of both sexes and of all ages, as well as retreating soldiers, totaling 57,418, were interned by Japanese in the villages at Yu-Fu Hill. Many died since neither water nor food was given. Many were frozen to death. In the evening of Dec. 16th, 1937, those who were still alive were marched off to Tsao-Shei-Chia, at Shie-Kwen, in a column of four, while each two were bound together by lead wire. There they were machine-gunned, followed by repeated bayonet thrusts. Corpses were burnt by kerosene and, at last, the remains of the burnt corpses were thrown into the river.

In this large-scale massacre were two men who escaped alive, one by the name of FONG, Sergeant of Training Head Corps, the other by the name of KUO, a police of the Pacification Corps. Fong and Kuo managed to loosen the wire bound, then they fell on the ground, pretending death, and dragged corpses to cover themselves. But Fong was wounded in his left arm by bayonet, and Kuo had his back burned black.

Fong and Kuo escaped to Ta-Mao-Tung, at Shang-Yuen Gate, where I, Lu Su, found plain cloths for them to change into, after which, they slipped away by crossing the river at Pa-Kwa-Chun. (I was then working in the Police Office. During street fighting, a shell wounded my leg. When hiding at Ta-Mao-Tung, at Shang-Yuen Gate, very near the scene of massacre, I was therefore able to witness this tragedy.)

STATEMENT JOINTLY MADE BY MESSRS. JUI, Fan-Yuen, CHANG, Hung-Ju, and YOUNG, Kwang-Tsai. TO THE
PROCURATORATE OF THE DISTRICT COURT OF NANKING.

On the 13th day of the Eleventh Month, (lunar calendar), 1937, after the Japanese Nakashima Unit entered the city, we came back from Sa-chow-Yu as refugees and saw corpses all over the way, a very tragic scene. JUI, Fan-Yuen, volunteered to help in burying the corpses of victims. Red Swastika Society sent him over to Relief Team at First District Civil Office, when he was given Red Swastika flags and ensigns. JUI summoned more than 30 enthusiastic residents and organized themselves into a private volunteer Team to bury corpses. Their work started on the 6th day of the Eleventh Month (Lunar Calendar) and carried on for more than 40 days. Between the suburb outside South Gate and around Hua-Shen-Miao, on the streets, in the alleys, and in the air raid shelters, more than 5,000 corpses were collected and buried. In another, more than 2,000 dead soldiers, found on the second and the third floor in the Dormitory of the Arsenal, were separately buried at Yu-Hua-Tai, Wang-Kiang-Chi and Hua-Shen-Miao. These places of burial could easily be identified by the bones still lying therein. Of course, their names could not be known. This is the Japanese massacre after entering the city. We hereby report.

STATEMENT BY A VICTIM, MR. WU, Chang-Teh,
TO THE PROCURATORATE OF THE DISTRICT COURT OF NANKING

I hereby truthfully state the facts of enemy crime and atrocities:

On Dec. 15, 1937, for no apparent reason, more than 2,000 Chinese, including both civilians and policemen, were taken away from the Judicial Yuan Building, in the Refugee zone of Nanking, by the Japanese Nakashima Unit. We were bound by ropes into rows and sent outside of Hen-Chun Gate, under the cover of 12 machine guns. When we arrived outside the city, we were machine-gunned. Those dead or just wounded were all burned by setting fire on logs and kerosene. Meanwhile, I escaped after being wounded.

EXTRACTS FROM THE EPITAPH ON THE TOMB OF UNKNOWN VICTIMS IN NANKING BY KAO, Kwen-Yu, the puppet "mayor" of Nanking, in January, 1939

"In December, 1938, villagers of Mu-Shan, Ma-Chun, Ma-An, Ling-Kou-Shih, etc., reported that there were many corpses and appealed for their burial. I ordered the Bureau of Public Health to send workers over to collect the remains and the bones of the corpses, the number of which exceeded 3,000. At a place east of Ling-Kou-Shih, they were properly buried together. The tomb was well marked and this Epitaph of Unknown Victims was thereby set up.....January, 1939.
KAO, Kwen-Yu, Mayor of Nanking."
